OPENING OF TRADE WITH JAPAN.—We have been surprised (says the New York Journal of Commerce) at the confidence felt by some of the officers of the Japan expedition that they should succeed in effecting a commercial arrangement with that country, hitherto closed to the commerce of Christendom, except Holland, and to the latter under many restrictions. Perhaps the annexed paragraph from a California paper will throw some light upon the subject:

"A business transaction took place a few days that is likely to be productive of important."

latter under many restrictions. Perhaps the annexed paragraph from a Cahfornia paper will throw some light upon the subject:

"A business transaction took place a few days since that is likely to be productive of important results in the history of the commercial world. A purchase of one hundred thousand pounds of rice was made by one of our most respectable Chinese merchants, which it is proposed to ship to Japan on board the ship Hamilton, which is now under Chinese colors, having been purchased from her American owners by two wealthy Chinese merchants. The Chinese have long been on trading terms with the Japanese, and their vessels are allowed to enter their ports and trade. The undertaking is a novel one, and, in the event of its succeeding, it would not require the foresight of a prophet to predict a very sudden increase in the mercantile marine of China, which would soon be able to show as handsome a fleet of clippers as any nation in the world. It would not be strange were it to happen that the opening of the ports of Japan should be brought about by the Chinese who have settled in California. Indeed, we are strongly inclined to the belief that such will be the case, and that the world will yet have to acknowledge themselves indebted to California for it all. The powerful changes going on throughout the world—the result of the gold discoveries—are every day becoming more and more apparent, and it would not be presumptive to suppose that the ports of Japan would be as free to the world before three years as are those of China now."

FUGITIVE APPRENTICE CASE.—A case has just been adjudicated before the United States district court of Pennsylvania, in which James M. Boaler, of Delaware, sought to reclaim possession of his fugitive apprentice under the provisions of the act of Congress generally known as the Fugitive Slave law. The usual process was had before the United States Commissioner, and the case taken into the United States district court on a writ of habeas corpus. Judge Kane, after hearing, gave his opinion that the words of the law—"persons held to labor in one State under the laws there-of"—elearly included apprentices, and that to of"—clearly included apprentices, and that to give a different construction to them would be "to held to labor in one State under the laws there of "—clearly included apprentices, and that to give a different construction to them would be "to discharge every apprentice in Pennsylvania that chose to cross the Delaware, and every one elsewhere that repaired to that State, and refused to return to his duty." The apprentice was remanded to the custody of the marshal, and the case returned to the United States Commissioner for final adjudication.

Woman in Jail for Debt.—There is now a widow woman incarcerated in the Portland jail for no other offence than that of being unable to meet her liabilities. The facts are these:

The husband of this lady died a few years since, leaving her about three hundred dollars. He was a young man well known in this community, and respected. Since his decease she has resided with her aged and poor parents, and become responsible for the rent of the house. Gradually the small amount left her melted away, and finally when the rent bill came in she was unable to pay it. She was sued, judgment obtained, and execution taken out. The usual bond to disclose was given, and the time appointed, but, by a very natural mistake on her part, it was not made. The consequence was, that she must involve her sure ties or go to jail. Like an honorable woman, she chose the latter; and there she now is—a prisoner, within the gloomy walls of that terrible building.

ANIMALCULES IN WATER .- The idea entertain-Animalcules in Water.—The idea entertained by most persons that all water, whether found in springs, wells, brooks, ponds, or cisterns, or even that fresh rain water is filled with living creatures, is, as far as the microscope enables us to ascertain, without foundation. Water is a compound of two gases—hydrogen and oxygen and the existence of animalcules in it is altogether dependent on certain causes, principally on its contact with vegetable matter; thus, if you take a bowl of water, and place a handful of hay or other vegetable matter in it, in a few days the top will be covered with a scum, which, by putting a small quantity under the microscope, will be found to be a mass of animalcules, but is only of the lower order, most of them being the monads; the smallest of this class being so minute that ninety millions can swim about in one drop.

A LOCOMOTIVE VILLAGE .- The Illinois Journal A Locomotive Village.—The Illinois Journal says that a new plan of accommodating laborors on railroad improvements is practiced on the Chicago and Mississippi Railroad. The entire working force on this road is one hundred persons, who live in cars fitted up for the purpose of bearding the men, and are pushed along as the rails are laid—thus securing the advantage of having the men always near their work. This locomotive boarding-house or village comprises fifteen large covered cars, with all the necessary conveniences for cooking, eating, and sleeping. They carry the cows along; they graze alongside, and are put heir stalls when the locomotive village changes ground.

Daowned.—A son of Henry W. Sill, of New York, aged fourteen, was drowned in this city yesterday afternoon. He was bathing, in company with several other boys, but got beyond his epth, and was drowned before he could be rescued. An older brother who was with him came near losing his life in attempting to save him. The boy had only been in the city a few hours, having arrived in the boat in the morning, intending to visit some relatives.—Hartford Courant, Monday.

Our Navy Yard.—Franklin 74.—For a few weeks pust there has been a little more outward activity than usual, consequent upon the arrival of several United States yessels, composing the fishing squadron, which sailed again on Sunday.

During last week there was in session at the navy yard a committee of faval constructors, called together to examine, with the officers of the yard, the hull of the Franklin ship of the line, and report to the Navy Department her condition, and whether suitable for repairs. The committee spent a whole week in the investigation, and; although their report will not be made public until it appears from the Navy Department, we learn that they found the hull generally in so good a state that the vessel can be razed and made into a more serviceable vessel than she has ever been. Should the plans talked of be adopted by the Department, it will require a year's labor to make the alterations.

LOCAL MATTERS.

TRIUMPH OF WIT .- An anecdote is related TRIUMPH OF WIT.—An anecdote is related of two sons of the Emerald Isle who recently called upon one of the Secretaries to present their papers of recommendation for office, and to solicit the removal of two colored laborers, and the appointment of themselves as substitutes. The Secretary did not, however, appreciate the object of their errand, and declined acceding to their demands. Determined not to be defeated, they proceeded to the White Homes and their sought and obtained the White House, and there sought and obtained an audience with President Pierce, to whom they elated what had passed between the Secretary and themselves, and then requested him to inter-ere in their behalf. The President politely sugested the indelicacy of such a proceeding, and declined to yield to their wishes; whereupon one of the Irishmen, stepping forward, his face broad with humor, propounded the following question: "Gineral, if you were going to engage in another war who would you prefer for your soldiers, Irishmen or nagers?" "Irishmen, by all means," was the prompt reply; and, without giving the President time to say another word, the interrogator continued: "Then if you prefer Irishmen in war, why not in pace?" This was a "stumper," and caused an explosion of laughter on the part of the President and Secretaries Davis and Guthrie, who, it is said, were present on the occasion When the merriment subsided a little, the Pres dent endorsed the papers, in the form of an express "hope that the Commissioner of Public Buildings would give those men something to do." They eparted, bowing and scraping, and returning hanks until they reached the door, and wer upon their way rejoicing.

of trustees of the public schools, yesterday after-noon, the Mayor of the city in the chair, a resolution was unanimously adopted, thanking S. S. Randall and G. J. Abbott, esqs., and the Rev. Messrs. Cole and Hill, for the delivery of addresses, recently, before the pupils of the several district schools, and requesting a copy of the same for publication, provision for which has been made.

The secretary of the board was directed to address a circular letter to all of the teachers, with a view of requiring an exact compliance with the ules for the government of the schools.

On motion, it was resolved that the thanks the trustees are due to and are hereby warmly tendered to the conductors of the public papers for the interest which they have manifested in the public schools of this city.

THE SALE OF THE FURNITURE of Senor Don A. Calderon de la Barca, yesterday—J. C. McGuire, auctioneer—was largely attended, and the articles generally brought good prices. The splended family carriage was sold at $660, and the small barouche at $205. Superior old Amontillado sherry wine, at from $14 25 to $15 75 a dozen; Catalonian $1 75 a gallon; sherry, in casks, $6 a gallon.

DRAMATIC ENTERTAINMENT .- We would reaind our readers of the entertainment to be given this evening, at Carusi's Saloon, by Mr. Sheriff, sisted by Mr. Cullen and Miss Julia Renwicks A correspondent, in speaking of the "dramatic readings" of Mr. Sheriff in June last, says: "His recitation from Hamlet was a noble and complete declamation, being full of high passion, deep and delicate pathos, and intense energy; both of con-ception and execution; in fact, his entire performance was rounded off by a finished taste and accu rate discrimination."

OMNIBUS RIDING .- The invention of India-rub her tires to coach and wagon wheels, to prevent noise and clatter, and to relieve jolting, is already hailed as a public blessing; but we trust that, so far as travelling contrivances are concerned, the elastic substance will be employed in the construction of the bodies of the vehicles themselves.

On Tuesday night an omnibus, of the ordinary size, was crowded with seventeen inside pass gers, while four took seats on the roof, and one stand on the steps, holding by the door-frame. With the driver and a companion, there were twenty-four persons to be drawn by two horses a distance of at least a mile! Before reaching Georgetown, however, the number of travellers was slightly diminished.

The obstructions to Pennsylvania avenue west beyond the War Department, cause drivers to plough through the mud of out-of-the-way streets: and this, together with such a load as that to which we have referred, prevented the omnibus from accomplishing the distance between the Centre Market and the stopping place in Georgetown in less than three-fourths of an hour. However, considering the distance and the slow time, the ride was cheap at a York sixpence.

As a remedy for the excessive crowding of pas-engers, we think that either a larger number o mibuses should be placed on the line, or that the body of the vehicles should be constructed of India-rubber, to allow of stretching on extraordi-

SUNDAY SPORTS .- Recently, on a Sabbath, nine white men resorted to an open common, in the northwest part of the city, for the purpose of gambling. They appointed a kind of picket-guard, with a view to prevent a surprise by municipal authority; but the guard forgot their duty in the indulgence of strong drink, and the police officers, who were soberly on the look-out, captured the offending sportsmen.

On the same day ten negroes were arrested on the Island for a similar transgression.

Subsequently they were all fined, each three or four dollars; and under one of the old Maryland laws, (we have scarcely any others,) the money thus collected was handed over to the levy court, to be expended in the construction or re-pair of roads without the corporate limits of the county.

MATTHEW BROWN, D. TO BUILDERS, CARPENTERS, AND CONTRACTORS.

HAVING taken great pains to lay in a good and general assortment of building Hardware, I am now prepared to offer to those wanting such goods such inducements as I am convinced will suit. I am determined not to be undersold by any house in Washington. All my goods come direct from manufactories, which enables me to offer them at New York and Philadelphia prices; and making the building material my principal trade, I think I can come a little under others in this line of business.

I enumerate in part mor. villa, mor. hotel, rab. mor., sliding-door locks and latches, mor. night-latches, plated furniture, horizontal, upright, ru-ral, cottage hotel, western and novelty rim locks and latches, rim latches all kinds; white porcelain knobs with porcelain rose or plate farniture; dark min'l, grey min'l, variegat d min'l, and all kinds of rose and fancy color knobs for front or parfor knobs, with the patent sliver glass knobs, an articl. that needs only to be brushed off to clean it, and always showing a fine plate; the old plated knobs, when they are cleaned, leaves a dirty spot on the door. Also, sash fastenings, inside shutter fastenings, cupboard catches, books and eyes. loose and fast-joint butts, hinges, Parliament hinges, Plant & Parlmer's patent shutter hinges; belts of all kinds a nails, screws, hat and coat hooks, pulleys, sash weights, sash cord, and many other things to numerous to mention, which will be sold low.
